

Im a ham radio operator / KG4GZW ; involved with skywarn, and other emergency situations involving the community. also like other ham's im involved with the maritime radio network, which aid in 3rd party traffic relay's from ship to shore, and deployed military personel. BPL has proven to interfere "GREATLY" the ham band spectrum. Amateur radio is not only a hobby, but proven as a first reaction to disasters and critical situations where normal communications were impossible. With the presence of BPL, it will only hinder our capability which has been proven as a valuable resource in times of need. IS THAT WORTH JEOPARDIZING!!!!!! VOTE NO!
